Pioneer Rancher Dies

Alberta suffered a loss in the past week in the death of George Lane, prominent rancher and cattleman, and owner of the famous Bar-U ranch, south of Calgary. Mr. Lane came to Alberta in 1883, and gained world fame for his horse and cattle ranch and large farming enterprises. The Prince of Wales was his guest on the occasion of his first visit to Alberta in 1919, and it was through Mr. Lane that arrangements were made for the Prince to buy his ranch near the Bar-U.

Many Teachers Train

Provincial normal schools will be crowded with teachers in training this term. More than 300 students have been admitted at Camrose and 375 will be in training at the Calgary school. This is an increase over former years.

Oil at Fort Norman

Further proof that oil in hopeful quantities is contained in comparatively shallow shales on structures in the lower Mackenzie River Valley was brought out from Fort Norman by the Imperial Oil, Ltd., crew. The Fort Norman crew reported that in the well drilled this summer, a short distance from the original Discovery Well, oil estimated in quantity at about 100 barrels per day was struck in a shale at a depth of 1,063 feet.

Special music by augmented orchestra. On Monday and Tuesday next week "The Pony Express", James Cruze's successor to "The Covered Wagon", will be the attraction. This is a special picture, but the management announce it will be shown at their regular popular prices. A strong cast is headed by Betty Compson, Ricardo Cortez, Ernest Torrence and Wallace Berry. "The Pony Express" is a story of the middle west and western States about 1860.

Colonizing in Alberta

Sir Newton Moore, with other directors of the British Dominions Land Settlement Association, from London, England, have recently visited the province in the interests of their syndicate which is colonizing a large area in north eastern Alberta, north of Vermilion. This is the territory to be traversed by the Cutknife branch of the C.P.R. and the directors have obtained a promise from that railway company for a further extension on this branch in the near future.

COFFEE "is good coffee"

Confidence--A National Keystone

Whereas accumulation of the tremendous impetus which the 1925 crop of Western Canada is giving to business throughout the length and breadth of the Dominion, while paving the way for still greater increases and expansion. Almost every day the daily newspapers tell of some new record established. Both the C.P.R. and Canadian National are loading larger numbers of cars daily with grain than ever before in their history, with the result that the stream of wheat pouring into the terminal elevators is surpassing anything hitherto experienced in this country.

The Saskatchewan Co-operative Elevator Co., the largest flour mill handling company in the Dominion, is now also a large, recently built 1,200,000 bushels in one day, where as in its previous year old it only could do one million bushel mark.

Another most gratifying feature of this year's crop is that the actual yield per acre is not only coming up to the earlier estimates but, taken on the whole, these estimates are being exceeded. In the matter of grade, too, the output is highly gratifying, this year's crop grading higher than in any previous year. Not only is a very high percentage of oatmeal grades, but at least half of the oatmeal grades in Saskatchewan is reported as No. 1 Northern.

The large increase in wheat production in Canada this year, the satisfactory yield per acre and the new general tendency toward higher grades of wheat known throughout the United States, where the crop this year has fallen away below the average. As a result a movement of United States farmers to Western Canada has already begun.

The 1925 crop has also provided a first and conclusive reason for such an established concern as the Hudson's Bay Company to take active steps to carry into effect its pre-war policy of extending operations throughout the West. The H. B. Co., therefore, commenced building operations on a new $5,000,000 store in Winnipeg, to enlarge its store in Vancouver has purchased additional property to provide extensions at Calgary, Edmonton and Saskatoon, and has just concluded the purchase of an extensive site for a store in Regina.

There are some of the outstanding and tangible evidences of the renewed confidence in Western Canada which is now felt by everybody. That renewed confidence is, in fact, the most valuable asset of all. It means more to our people and to the future of the Dominion than all the millions of dollars of new wealth which the crop itself represents.

While the West was passing through the most trying and difficult years, there was an all-around confidence in the people of Canada individually and of the country as a whole. When times are rather hard and all countries have periods of depression, and that every year has a "good" year. The year's crop, however, has demonstrated that Western Canada, as a country, is all right, and as a result the people are taking heart. There will be no more, but there will unquestionably be a better and firm confidence.

And confidence is, in fact, a real and vitally important national asset. Lack of confidence on the part of the people of Canada individually has, in the past, been an outstanding national weakness. In the planning and execution of great national undertakings Canadians have displayed confidence, but all too frequently in their individual capacity and enterprises they have been timid and fearful to venture. Such lack of confidence has been more in evidence in the East than in the West, although this section of the Dominion has not lacked confidence and prospects of blue sky.

This year of the West is not only giving to its own people what it can do, but it is demonstrating to all Canada and the world at large that under normal conditions it can provide the means to keep all the wheels of industry turning.

Supremacy Of The Air

New British Seaplane is Capable of Great Speed

The Napier B-4 which is the secret seaplane built at Southampton for the British navy in the Schneider air cup race at Baltimore, is now ready for shipment to the United States. The utmost secrecy is still preserved, but it is capable of speed of considerably more than four miles a minute. The machine has monoplane wings built in one piece and no fabric is used, the only materials being metal and wood. The popovers are metal and wood. The machine is entirely new. The British hope not only to win the cup, but to gain definite air superiority.

Thief Returns Valuable Watch
A year ago, burglars entered the home of E. F. De Bower, Chicago, president of the American Academy of Jewellery, including a specially made Swiss wrist watch that cost Mrs. De Bower, who is ill, to tell the time. There was said to be only one other watch like it in Chicago. The other night the same window was raised and a package pushed through. It contained the watch and this note: "Jim Conners is doing, you go to help him and pray for him. His pal."

A Tale Of Shipwreck

Bottle Message of Tragic Import Is Found After Many Months

On a little island in the centre of the Indian Ocean, far from the steamship lanes, may be lying the bones of five sailors, saved from drowning when the Mary A. Dilling, of Philadelphia, was wrecked in a storm on March 18, 1921, according to a dispatch from Brussels.

A nurse at a sanatorium at Brede, near Oxford, found in the sands a bottle containing the following message: "Send ship Mary A. Dilling from Philadelphia, wrecked in storm March 18, known latitude 82 east, longitude 10 south. Five were saved but all starve minus somebody come soon. Please notify grandfather, P. W. Wende, 1145 Walnut Street, Philadelphia. For God's sake hurry."

The bottle, with its message of hope, travelled many thousands of miles before it was picked up in Belgium.

What Is Evaporated Milk?

Interesting Information Regarding This Important Article of Diet
While the use of evaporated milk is almost all over Canada, occasionally the query is made, "What is Evaporated Milk?" Evaporated Milk is nothing but fresh milk from which part of the water has been removed by evaporation. (Fresh milk is 87 per cent water.) Nothing is added to it. Nothing but water is taken from it. This concentration makes it more than twice as rich as ordinary milk. After it is thus concentrated it is put in air-tight cans, sterilized and marketed by the grocer, the manufacturer putting his brand on it, as Borden's, etc. Charles Milk, for example, Milk is fresh unless it has been subjected to attack by the bacteria which destroy its freshness. Milk, when it comes to the store, is exposed to the air and (therefore) subject to bacterial contamination. In the course of time the number of such bacteria increase and their action on the milk destroys its freshness. When milk becomes sour it is because the bacteria have attacked the milk in such numbers and for such time as to develop the lactic acid that makes it sour. Evaporated milk is concentrated at plants in the country within a few hours after it comes from the cow, the Borden Company, for instance, operating large condenseries at each dairy centre as Truro, N.S., Iqaluit and Norwich, Ontario, and South Sumner, D.C. The milk is put into air-tight cans and sterilized. By sterilization all bacteria are destroyed. The attack of such bacteria is absolutely stopped. No further bacteria can get into it. The sealed container brings it to the consumer as fresh and sweet as when it came to the country plants. It will keep fresh and sweet on the pantry shelf until the can is opened and, put in a cool place, will then keep sweet much longer than open milk. Unsweetened milk after it is delivered to the home.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

PAUL IN ATHENS

Golden Text: In him we live, and move, and have our being. Lesson: Acts 17:16-34. Devotional Reading: Psalm 129:1-2.

The Text Explained and Illuminated
Paul's conversion, which occurred on the road to Damascus, is the subject of the lesson. Paul was a Jew and a Pharisee, and he was a zealous follower of the law. He was a man of great energy and ability, and he was a man of great faith. He was a man of great faith, and he was a man of great faith.

A good criterion of a man's character may be ascertained from the knowledge of the things which stir his heart.

Paul preached in the synagogue to the Jews and proselytes, and also reasoned in the marketplace every day with them that met him. In this he was like Socrates, who was wont to stop his companions and by cross-examination try to arouse in them a desire for better things.

Paul may have been more successful in his work with individuals than in his public preaching. Personal work often wins more adherents than public preaching.

This is a ministry which all can exercise.

Heel Hold Powder
A hollow heel that causes a poor, dry box has been invented in England. In appearance the heel looks like the ordinary high heel of a woman's shoe, but whatever the wearer wishes to wear her shoe she simply releases a catch at the back of her shoe and the powder box heel feels down on the floor, releasing a powder puff.

Airship Not Yet Rival Of Seacraft

Dirigibles Have Not Been Constructed To Stand Storm

The United States will be spared the Rheinholt tragedy to net efforts at conquering the air, England's press believe.

London papers agreed that the trials of States would draw from the cause steady inspiration to build an airship capable of riding out a storm.

But the British themselves read out of the situation the lesson that the airship is not the rival of the seacraft, at least not at present nor for a long time to come.

Experts declared it was hardly possible to build a dirigible great enough to consider carrying heavy or bulky cargoes.

Experts pointed out that airship construction still is, to a large extent, guesswork, at least insofar as determination of actual stresses and strains on the complex framework is concerned. Only experience in building such craft gives an idea of the stresses to which the craft must be subjected but it cannot be worked out with mathematical nicety as for instance, in the case of a ship or a building.

The experts hope the new disaster will stir air technicians to master this phase.

They drew the lesson that accurate weather and meteorological information must be supplied to dirigibles if they are to take advantage of the weather brought the Rheinholt down.

They held that if Commander Landow had had proper warning his craft could have been put in a position of being caught in the midst of it.

To Protect Fur-Bearing Animals

May Be Close Season For Beaver In Manitoba

S. V. Jackson, professor of biology and history, Manitoba University, has been travelling in Northern Manitoba collecting information for the Provincial government in connection with the survey of natural resources.

Prof. Jackson is especially interested in the game ranch of the work with a view to the conservation of fur-bearing animals.

Prof. Jackson stated that north of the 52nd parallel, which has formerly produced 90 per cent. of the total amount of muskrat for the province, production is now reduced to 45 per cent. even this season. Beaver has been reduced in even greater percentage. To pelts and trapping out of season is easily attributed to the low water level. As a solution for the difficulty Professor Jackson thought that the government would possibly consider putting a close season on beaver for five years and also restrict the tenure of trappers' licenses in the six or seven sections of the province in one-year renewals only. Trapping of muskrat is now prohibited during the fall of each year.

Hold Record For Meanness

Great Uncle of Viscount Lascelles

Knew How to Starve Himself

That fine old Yorkshireman, the Earl of Harwood, is now 78. Lord Harwood, of course, is the father of Viscount Lascelles, who is now Lord Lansdowne. Lord Harwood had a very interesting uncle in the Marquis of Chichester, who left his millions to Viscount Lascelles. The marquis was so mean that when the newspapers were filled with news of the great war he preferred to save his money in a public library. He voluntarily endured semi-starvation at a time when his income was about $200,000 a year. One of the clubs declined to permit him to buy his meat raw and bring it to the club to be cooked.

Titled Farmers

The title of a Canadian farmer makes expert Lord Edward Mounsey, the 17-year-old son of the Duke of Devonshire, and he has come to Lord Mounsey's ranch in Saskatchewan. He himself, the Duke's son, is a member of the King of the Belgians, who went out some time ago as a scout, accompanied by a nephew of the Earl of Derby.

Strange Places For Letter Boxes

There are many letter boxes in strange places in London. One is to be found under the doorstep of a house. In one locality, the postman, when he has a letter for the top floor of a building, gives a shout, when a box is let down on a string from the top window and the letter handed up.

Good Market For Umbrellas

Umbrellas have grown to be an important item in the export business to East Africa, where they are used by natives for protection against the sun and rains. More than half the umbrellas imported come from Great Britain.

Thrilling Feat Recalled

Blondin Carried Man Over Niagara River on Tight Rope 65 Years Ago

At the request of a reader, who had been prompted by the attempt of Bobby Leach to swim the Niagara Falls, the Editor has decided to recall the thrilling feat of Blondin, who carried a man over his back, the St. Catharines Standard says in its story of the daredevil feat.

The man Blondin carried was Harry McCord, who for some years was Blondin's manager and assistant in circus work in several countries. McCord got $10,000 for his share in the performance.

The rope, although drawn "as tight as possible by a winch worked by 18 horses on the American side, sagged 20 feet in the middle, where it was only 27 feet above the water. For 60 feet of its length, too, it swung in the wind and the draught from the falls with a play from side to side of 10 feet.

When he was fairly over the water Blondin had to pause for a rest. McCord alighted and stood on the rope with his hands on Blondin's shoulders. He then climbed on his back, and the trip was started again, McCord's description was:

"The rope was comparatively steady until we reached the falls, where there were no guy lines. We had made about ten feet on this when Blondin made an effort to go straight, the balance pole going furiously up and down. He had lost his balance. In that awful moment his olive suit and his legs were torn apart, and I at first followed it, standing passively and dumbly upon his shoulders. In a way or fall with him as he might be described as a superior to his balance. Unable to remain in his balance, he ran along the rope, the impulse being to go on, and on reaching it, gave me the order, 'Get down, quick!'

"Again I mounted his back and in a few minutes we walked up the incline of the rope to the land. It seemed like a lifetime, but it was just 45 minutes."

Truly, there are enough thrills in reading the story without watching another feat like it!

Took Coffee Beans To India

Mohammedan Saint Carried Small Supply From Arabia

In those days, says a Bombay paper, when coffee is bringing the highest prices on record, the pilgrims are not so much interested in the Mohammedan saint who is said to be responsible for taking the coffee beans to India.

Legend says that Baba Idris, a Musselman from South India, was the sacred pilgrim to Mecca, and while there he obtained possession of small supply of coffee beans, which he decided to bring back with him.

In spite of many difficulties on the road he held fast to his goods, though he did not appear to have been fully acquainted with the properties of them. He decided to make his home in Mecca, where he lived for many years, and he has been known by his name. Here he proposed to live as a Musselman fakir or saint.

One of his first acts was to plant the coffee seeds he had brought with him. He selected a suitable place near Al-Funda, and by and by the plants grew until they yielded a few beans. It is said that Baba Idris was himself surprised at the superior effect of the beans, though he must have heard something about the use to which the beans were put in Arabia. The berries made proved most popular, and gradually a considerable garden was opened.

Power Shovel Breaks Record

Landed 2,750 Cubic Yards of Rock on Coast in Eight Hours

All known records for moving material with a power shovel were recently broken when an electric crane in a southern mine loaded 2,750 cubic yards of rock on to cars in one eight-hour shift.

To accomplish this task the electric shovel was used with its eight-cylinder diesel engine to run down hill, the shovel being able to run down hill, full of rock, and haul and empty into a car at the rate of one every minute, and a half throughout the period.

The machine would make a single circuit in a 1,000-foot mine, a distance of a mile long, and to load the same amount of rock by hand it might have required an army of 5,000 shovelers.

The electric shovel was operated by two men—Utility Division.

Wireless In Swiss Alps

Has Replaced Dogs As Rescuer Of Lost Travellers

Among the latest developments in wireless is its introduction into the Alps as a means of summoning rescuers to render assistance to tourists. This information comes from Geneva, and the dispatch adds that the innovation, it is believed, will save many lives. "That beneficent power has already been achieved as was, and it is only natural that wireless should also be utilized in the mountain wastes of ice and snow or in the desert sands of North Africa."

The saving of life is a paramount consideration, but wireless in the Alps may rub them of one of the elements of romance enshrined in their recesses. The mind reverts to juvenile days, and to the tales that came out of Switzerland setting of the Hospice on the Great St. Bernard in the Valais pass between France and Italy. They told of the noble legend of dog, who in the monastery and trained by the brothers to search for and relieve lost travellers. Youngsters could even hear the tinkle of the bell hung from the dog's collar to attract attention to his mission of mercy.

Not so in the case of these dogs in modern times. Possibly they may no longer be needed, at least so far as the Alps are concerned, at a time when the Alps had not become the lawless resort they are today. If any be left in the service for which they were originally bred, the introduction of wireless may mean the end of a gripping chapter of Alpine history. The St. Bernard himself may survive as an ornament of the show bench, but without that look in his brown eyes that revealed his mission.

Meanwhile, however, the introduction of the view, and wireless has killed distance as it has done away with a good deal of old-time romance.

Women In Athletic Field

Canadian Girls Are Invited to Compete

There is something significant in the compulsory luncheon rendered recently in Toronto to the members of the Canadian women's track and field team which competed in England this summer. Not much attention has been paid by the union to women's athletics until this year, when the invitation arrived from the British Women's Athletic Association to send a team to London to compete. The proposal to form a Canadian Women's Athletic Union has been given impetus by the fine impression created by the establishment of a national organization for women athletes in Canada, and a Canadian team has been invited to compete in the British summer meet.

Challenges Wehman

For Championship

English Town Clerk Is Confident He Held Title

Old-time "town clerks" have not all disappeared from England. That is proved by the fact that one of the English town clerks, has challenged another, William Powell, to prove himself entitled to the proud title he holds as "Champion Town Clerk of England."

Angles is chief at the town of Marlborough, Wiltshire, and he is a member of the "Marlborough Club." The comment made here is that Powell could easily beat Angles by simply making the latter cry: "Pish-ber."

Should Be Through

At present it seems to be taken for granted that a man is able to purchase a car he is also able to drive it, but the two are not necessarily going together at all, and the permit and test system should be through enough to make a man who is not a competent driver, a London driver.

A Quirer Coincidence

The names of John Alden and Miles Standish were called in federal court, Boston, where the trial of John Dillinger, who is charged with the slaying of a man, was being held. The names of John Alden and Miles Standish, of Wrentham, an engraver, was assigned to the federal grand jury.

Lucy Dalton On View At Toronto Exhibition

They were going to put her on the midway but she felt that that was hardly the place for a lady of her claims and distinction, and so she was allotted a position outside the Canadian Pacific space at the British Building.

Who Is Lucy Dalton

Lucy Dalton was the first of the combine gender to roll into North Bay pulling smoke. A regular speed artist she was, and she pulled her engine into the town of North Bay, Ontario, in 1872, and she came off the old St. Lawrence and Ottawa Railway (now the Canadian Pacific) upon the construction of the C.P.R. in consummation of Confederation in 1867.

She was called the Lucy Dalton in honor of the sister-in-law of Lord Dufferin, who was then governor general. She was afterwards named the road number "92." When North Bay became the town of the day Lucy Dalton forgot that she was Lucy, but as the case with so many old ladies of today, it was necessary to put a period between her and her before she could go very far. Determined to "see this world before the next" she is now in Toronto.

Germany's Potash Industry

Business Has Shown Remarkable Increase Over Past Record

Potash concerns are among the very few German Industries that have not suffered materially as a result of the post-war financial and industrial crisis. They not only have not suffered, but have succeeded in almost tripling their business.

During the first six months of the year 1925 the amount of potash sold by the German industries amounted to 726,000 tons, which is almost three times the amount disposed of during the same period of the preceding year and also represents a vast increase over the total of 120,000 tons of the pre-war record of 1912. Every ounce of the stock left over from last winter has been sold, and all the concerns today are working at full blast.

This showing of the German potash business is regarded as quite remarkable in view of the fact that Germany's world monopoly of the business suddenly was broken by the loss of the Alsatian mines in France followed by the discovery of promising potash deposits in Texas, Spain, Galicia, the Balkans, Mexico and elsewhere.

Guardian Very Much Alive

French Girl Convicted When He Winked At Her

London is full of tourists from practically all countries, and most of the French visitors never fail to be interested in the stalwart guardmen on duty at the Horse Guards headquarters in Whitehall.

Some stare at them deliberately, and one French girl refused to believe one motionless figure was alive. She stood alone and gazed there, suddenly joined her English friends looking somewhat flushed. She explained that the soldier was real after all—he had deliberately winked at her.

New Device Protects Hat

Device by which a felt or straw hat cannot blow off by the wind is said to have been invented. It consists of a small mounded button fastened to the hat through a buttonhole in the front of the sweatband. When the hat is placed on the head, the button sticks out, and is fastened on the vacuum principle. The strip is out of sight when worn, and it is not so comfortable.

Famous Englishmen's Graves Are Neglected

Covered With Weeds, Few Know Of Their Existence

All over England there are forgotten graves of famous Englishmen. Tombstones have slipped; graves have been washed away and monuments are every where overgrown by the ivy, and, forgotten and neglected, some of the greatest men in history sleep their last sleep in obscurity.

One can visit any cemetery in and about London and be shocked and surprised at the condition of the graves. One can find many graves where there is an endowment for perpetuity; otherwise there are just weeds and moss and turf.

Mr. Algernon Ashton, who has rendered more service to the memories of the great men of former days than any other of his time, says, "Kensal Green is one of the most interesting cemeteries in London. Close by the tombs of the Buns of Cambridge and the last resting place of Blondin. Thackeray lies near Leech and Dicky Doyle, Francis Thompson, Anthony Trollope, Alexander's 19th, Mr. Crofts, Leigh Hunt are but a few of the well-known names on graves now nearly forgotten."

Rarely seen these tombs; few know of their existence; but Kensal Green is not alone in its obscurity. In Chelsea Park Church, for instance, are buried Whitaker and Horner, and in Melton Church the remains of Keats.

There are many graves in London. In 1925, Captain George Vancouver, one of Captain Cook's assistants, discovered Vancouver Island. In 1785 this intrepid navigator died at Peterhead, and was buried in the village churchyard.

A reporter had the good fortune of finding the grave, although an imposing tablet in the church commemorates Vancouver's exploits. So overgrown is the grave that a party of local Vancouver pilgrims photographed the wrong tombstone the other day.

Industry Key To Success

Places Worth Reaching Have To Be Won

W. W. Sargent, now president of the Chicago and Northwestern Railway, gives the key to success the one word—industry.

That's endeavoring, especially for the young man or woman who is starting at the bottom with some big concern and wonders if real hard work can ever be noticed in a world that seems to place so much reliance on "good" industry. Not talk, or office politics, or shilly shally a good game of golf with your superior—just industry.

The men who put it to these places that are worth getting to almost without exception are those who have hard work done there. It's the only way.—Vancouver Star.

Urges Lifting Embargo On Apples

Requests for the lifting of an embargo on Canadian apples which had been placed on them by the Japanese Government, according to consular officials at Vancouver. Samples of the apples from the British Columbia orchards were sent to Japan as soon as possible, and if they are pronounced free from larvae of the poisonous moth, the embargo will be lifted, it is expected.

The annual profit of the St. Lawrence is now $150,000,000.

American Farmers Flocking to Canada

Land At Bargain Prices And Big Wheat Yield Proves Lure

American tenant farmers are flocking to Western Canada, where plenty of good farms are being picked up at bargain prices. So long as farming was highly remunerative in the United States these tenants were willing to work and pay their rent, but now they are flocking to Canada, where the land is being developed and the tenants have developed ambitions to become land owners in the Canadian west.

J. Bruce Walker, who is in charge of immigration from the American west, says that this year the emigration to Canada is 50 per cent. greater than a year ago. The Canadian authorities have been promoting cheap emigration from various places into Canada, to show how cheaply farms can be bought in Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia, and once the Yankees see the lands, they want to buy them.

The huge Canadian wheat crop is also attracting many farmers, who are recognized that they can make more money the conditions of farming generally, the wheat is as good as the gold.

Indians Of Guatemala Very Superstitious

Many Mysterious Riots Are Part Of It

The Indian of Guatemala is born, lives and dies in the midst of superstition. His crop is planted, cultivated and harvested in accordance with the laws of the gods. When the Indian from the upland visits "his tierra caliente," he brings with him many superstitions. In a certain position known only to him. If the stone is undisturbed upon his return it indicates that his wife has been wholly faithful during his absence.

The moon plays an important part in the life of these people—planting, harvesting, rearing of the fowls, and the Indians are influenced by various phases of the moon. No native would think of elevating his house or building a cornfield in his face—"It makes one foolish," he will tell you.

The large black snake the Indian or Guatemalan in the street or on the trail with a bright black patch on the temple. This is a piece of dark colored snake, and it is passed on the forehead to cure or prevent headache. It is a common story to see the favorite dog of a nobleman, adorned with a necklace of dried limes, designed to protect him from evil as he best dogged.

Interesting Discovery In England

Workmen Have Unearthed Portion Of Great Roman Wall

A very curious discovery is reported from a place called Wighton in Cambridgeshire, England, where workmen, while cutting a pipe trench, have unearthed a portion of a Roman wall. The wall is about three feet below the ground level, and has been found in a position which leads to the conclusion that the masonry is a portion of the foundation of the western section of the great Roman Wall of Hadrian. The wall is built of large, square English masonry from the Solway Firth to the Tyne. The structure is about five feet deep and eight or nine feet wide, and it is built in a solid manner—not of solid masonry, but with facing on each side of large rough-hewn stones, the spaces between being filled in with stones and rubble. Although the Roman wall dates back to the second century the workmen had considerable difficulty in cutting through the mass.

Irish Immigrants Coming

Prospects for the emigration of many Irish people anxious to settle on ranches in Canada are apparent at the present time. In the opinion of Arthur Mulvan, Belfast, Ireland, who is now purchasing dairy farms in Manitoba, Mr. Mulvan plans to return to Canada at an early date and will be accompanied by a large group of Irish immigrants.

Royal Fair Entries

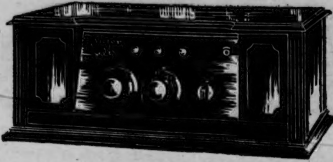

The management of the Royal Winter Fair to be held in Toronto, Nov. 20 to 22, recently announced that all the provinces of the Dominion would be represented in the livestock exhibits in the coming event. It was also announced that the British Columbia Government will forward an exhibit of fruit as well as one of livestock.

Ships Lost Last 9 Years

Thirty-seven years was the life of a single rope that T. C. Van Eaton, a pioneer after whom the city of Edmonton, Alberta, was named, lived in this summer. The structure houses a department store, whose proprietor declared that not a cork's worth of goods had been damaged by leakage. The shipwreck was split out of red cedar cut near Edmonton.
